WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA TEACHERS COLLEGE

Dedication

As a teacher, Mr. Cathey has won high honor and respect in the scholastic world; as a person, he has won the esteem of all who know him. No one was ever more deserving of such tributes, and to those who know him best, these few words hold a deep and significant meaning.

During our years in the world of Western Carolina Teachers College, he has been our sponsor, and thus our guide, instructor and helper in all phases of college life. And it is with the deepest and most sincere appreciation that we dedicate this, The 1949 Cata-mount, to our best friend, Mr. Tyson Cathey.

The Alma Mater

Hail to thee. our Alma Mater,
faithful, kind and true;
Every son and every daughter
offer praise to you.

Hail the dearest spot of all!
Hail to Cullowhee!
Light and life and fond devotion,
All we owe to thee.

Robertson

Dormitory

Located on the highest mount on the campus with the tennis courts, this building is the residence of the men and some of our faculty.

Graham Infirmary

Named in honor of Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, the infirmary is much appreciated by the entire college community. Here the students are cared for when they are "under the weather."

Moore Dormitory

Residence of all women students and location of the college dining hall. Some of the most beautiful shrubbery on the campus surrounds this building.

Student Union Building

The student "hut" of activities, dancing, club meetings and miscellaneous social functions are held in this building. The publication of the annual and newspaper are made in this building.

The Veterans' Village

"Boodleville" is the residence of sixty or more veterans and their families. Owned by the Federal Government, these prefabricated houses have been lent to the college.

McKee Training School

This building is the human laboratory in which practice teachers learn the technique requisite to good teaching

Western Carolina Teachers College is located 60 miles west of Asheville, in the beautiful Tuckaseegee river valley.

Across the river bridge, the sign of "Buck's" soda shop promises to bring back memories of the soda shop around the corner back home.

As you round the bend of the road at the steam plant, you will hear the "whistle of your future" as it drowns out the church bells announcing the evening worship service. Standing majestically and proudly beneath the hills, Breese Gymnasium now catches your eye. As you wind slowly up the road lined with native hemlock, dogwood, and red bud, you will soon discover the climax of typical Western Carolina scenes when you reach the Administration building at the top of the hill. Up the steep steps and through the swinging doors of this building you will walk into your future as many have done before you. Across the way is the Student Union building — the student's own place for carrying out their typical college activities.

TO ROBERT LEE MADISON

God bless the name of Madison.
Thine, too, O Cullowhee!
His dreams and toils through these long years
Bear fruit today in thee.

Upon this spot he founded thee;
To him 'twas holy ground.
Said he, " 'Tis here we build our shrine
Where blessings shall abound."

"This sacred spot we dedicate
To youth whose hungry soul
Its bounties may supply with food
To nourish and make whole."

And thus today in each glad heart
He lives—by truth made free;
And on this spot his spirit dwells
—On thee, O Cullowhee!

So here's to Robert Lee Madison:
To his name we homage pay
For the dream begun and the work well done
And the hope for a greater day!

The Curtain Falls

The curtain rises on a scene of confusion—our first registration day. Greener than we ever suspected, we find our high hopes of a glorious college career crushed by the ridicule of "Rat Week" and the tortures of English 131. But not for long . . . we begin to get a new grip on life in general, and college life in particular. The first act ends with a song and dance.

The next two acts whiz by. With the return of the veterans in 1946, exciting changes are made. New couples wander around on the campus. We all have our ups and downs—too many hours are spent in class; not enough in the bookstore. We all begin to feel our importance, and take active part in campus activities.

The curtain rises for the last time on a scene of bustling activity. We have little time to feel our importance. We must make the most of every hour. As the days fly by, we crowd every hour with fun—and work. With practice teaching, we assume the new role of dignity and responsibility. As the end nears, we begin to wish we could spend the rest of our lives in college. What fun it has been! As the curtain falls on the last act, we are walking across the stage to receive our diplomas.

Almost . . .

but not quite

Past the half-way mark, rounding the turn — and we suddenly realize there isn't much time left after all. With the novelty of our first year worn off, and the superiority complex of our second fast disappearing, we settle down to the serious business of being a junior.

Feeling more responsible than important, many of us began the year by becoming big brothers and sisters to freshmen. We had a marvelous time dancing to the exciting music of Teddy Martin and his band. This year has been a full one . . . full of business, work, and fun. We're sorry to see the seniors graduate, but it certainly will be great to be high men on the Western Carolina Teachers College totem pole!

"How green the Freshmen are," were our first remarks this year. Yes, we feel quite smug and important over the fact that we are no longer freshmen, but SOPHOMORES! Already we have shown our colors in sports, club work, and other campus activities, but we have yet to set our pace and plan our future.

We vaguely remember freshman week as a haze of new faces, buildings that looked alike, dozens of placement tests, handbook classes, and entertainment. Of course we met the faculty at the reception and they called us a fine crop.

Gradually we learned our way around. We had heard of God's gift to W.C.T.U., the Great Smoky Mountains. We had not heard that we would have to walk up and down them fifteen times a day. But it was fun!

New faces and new places began to become familiar, and we went out for publications, clubs, and sports. We must mention that we were not too eager to join the Monogram Club, since we saw so many prospective members with their heads shaved. We found new friends, got adjusted to campus life, and elected our class officers. It took the May Day Dance in the spring to round out a swell year!

The International Relations Club is actively engaged in stimulating interest in world problems and in exploring avenues to world peace. Its monthly programs feature student participation in presenting the various approaches to the solution of current international and regional issues. Members are entirely free to present any points of view for examination.

During the current year the Marshall Plan, the Berlin Crisis, the Chinese Civil War and the achievements of the United Nations have supplied topics for discussion.

The Club is affiliated with the Intercollegiate Council of the United Nations, a national organization with chapters in numerous colleges and universities.

Men's House Government Association has as its purpose the regulation of the dormitory life of resident students. The association includes all resident men and is governed by a council composed of officers and councilmen elected by the men. Men students recognize their importance as a unit of the Cooperative Student-Faculty Government. Men's House Government Association sponsored a dance this year, and served other successful social functions.

Caperila falls after penetrating East Tennessee State line — but, referee's arm tells story.

Speedy fullback, Chuck McConnell, delivers the goods against protests of East Tennessee line. Final score: W.C.T.U.—32; E.T.S.—12.

Lenoir Rhyne sent where good Bears go—Score: Alma Mater—9; Unfortunates—0.

Against some teams even our centers ramble over for T.D.'s. At this moment Hugh Constance leaves a pioneer on the ground as he takes the final step to pay dirt. Score: Catamounts — 32; Tusculum — 6.

Sometimes other teams get to score, too! The Scotties lucked out 7-6.

Our great rivals, the Mountaineers, seem to be having trouble with a stone wall line. The scoreboard said the Apps won 13-14 but we know, don't we?

Pretty — but boy, can they be rough!
